Administration

Board-Superintendent Relations

For success, the Board of Education and the Superintendent of Schools in any school district must share the same goals and visions for providing students with quality education. While Board and Superintendent roles are different, they should complement each other. For the greatest success, board members and the superintendent must work collaboratively as a governance team, with each clear on their roles and areas of responsibility, each respecting the others' roles and responsibilities and collaborating effectively on those responsibilities that are shared.

In general, "the Board is a legislative body that develops, evaluates and oversees education policies. The Superintendent is the professional educator chosen by the Board to implement policies and to provide professional leadership (and vision) for a district's schools." (AASA-NSBA, 1994, p. 7).

According to the 1994 study of the American Association of School Administrators (AASA) and the National School Boards Association (NSBA), school districts with high-quality governance teams and high student achievement are characterized by excellent working relationships between the Superintendent and Boards of Education.

The Relationship between the Board Chairperson and the Superintendent

By the nature of the position, the Board Chairperson plays a key role in ensuring the effective functioning of the governance team. The Chairperson serves as the liaison between the Board and the Superintendent. The Board Chairperson will often have a very different relationship with the Superintendent of Schools than others on the Board. Because of this relationship, it is crucial that Board Chairpersons be chosen carefully and that ability to serve as representative of the Board and, as appropriate, partner with the Superintendent, should be critical considerations in selecting the Board Chairperson.

Usually the Chairperson and Superintendent collaborate on developing the meeting agenda and other operational issues facing the Board. The Superintendent will depend on the Chairperson for guidance, and the Chairperson should look to the Superintendent for the same, not only in setting the agenda, but also in carrying out other joint Board/Superintendent responsibilities.

The Superintendent is a non-voting member of the district leadership team, and should be accorded the proper respect. Likewise, the superintendent is an employee of the Board, and the Board has a responsibility to insulate the Superintendent from outside pressures, in particular, political pressure. The Chairperson has a responsibility to ensure that the Superintendent can do his/her job without undue outside interference. The Chairperson must also ensure that individual Board members understand their roles and responsibilities, not only in terms of the Board/Superintendent relationship, but also as the Board relates to the students, community, staff, government agencies and others affected by the Board. Understanding that Board members are individuals, with different opinions and agendas, the Board Chairperson still has the responsibility, to the extent possible, for keeping everyone "on the same page". In particular, the Chairperson must make every effort to ensure that once district policy has been properly established, the Board speaks "in one voice" as the Superintendent implements that policy. This will, in the long run, pay dividends in terms of credibility of the Board and will lead to more efficient and effective Board action.
